

Answer all their questions up front

One of the biggest barriers to attracting and finding the right locum GP for your practice is a lack of information. The more information you can provide on your practice, the better the fit.

When surveyed, GPs using Lantum to find locum work identified several factors most important to them when applying to sessions:

